Admiral Stavridis: Burning Brazil Threatens America's Security

ADMIRAL JAMES STAVRIDIS, COMMANDER OF SOUTHCOM, JULY 9 2008

In a recent article published by Bloomberg News, Admiral James Stavridis, USN (Ret), former Supreme Allied Commander of NATO and former commander of U.S. Southern Command – the Area of Responsibility (or AOR) that includes Brazil – makes a compelling case for how the fires in the Brazilian rainforest, and its implications for climate change, are a security issue not just for the country and its neighbors, but for the U.S. as well. He includes a quote from CCS Advisory Board member, Vice Admiral Dennis McGinn, USN (Ret), stating: 'As my good friend Denny Ginn, formerly the admiral in charge of all Navy installations, has said, "it's not a matter of if, only a matter of time" before we have a catastrophic event.' ## Demand the EU & UN sanction Brazil to halt increased deforestation of the Amazon

The government of Brazil led by Bolsonaro favour the development of the Amazon rainforest over conservation, escalating deforestation. Deforestation threatens indigenous populations who live in the forest, loss of a precious and complex ecosystem and a vital carbon store that slows global warming.

Deficiências atinentes à Defesa

- Falta de continuidade dos projetos;
- Excesso de dependência de insumos estrangeiros críticos;
- Mentalidade leniente e postergante;
- Doutrinas inspiradas em conceitos obsoletos;
- Baixíssimo incentivo à indústria nacional;
- Acordos internacionais assinados de forma desavisada e que limitam nossas capacidades.

Soluções e recomendações

- Estabelecimento de um arcabouço legislativo que incentive e ampare a continuidade de projetos militares fabricados no Brasil, restringindo ao máximo as aquisições no exterior;
- Introdução nos currículos das escolas militares de tópicos que alertem para as fragilidades do Brasil e que o País é alvo de cobiça;
- Buscar sempre que possível a integração com o chamado “Sul Global”, de vez que essas nações enfrentam os mesmos desafios que o Brasil;
- Revisão/rescisão de todos os acordos internacionais que limitam nossa soberania;
- Ampliar o debate junto à sociedade de vez que à mesma caberá os maiores ônus no tocante a mobilização, custos e demais encargos.
